2016-2017

GANDHI MANAV KALYAN SOCIETY

Mission Of The Organisation

The main aim of Gandhi Manav Kalyan Society is to build such a society where the people are able to solve their problems freely and effectively in a spirit of equal citizenship. To achieve this goal, the Society aims at empowering the community to live in a clean and healthy environment and pursue the course of development, education, health and good governance with full dedication. The Mission of the organisation in brief is to build such conditions wherein common citizen, deprived, Dalits and troubled people and the tribal communities come together, think about the interests of each other and work on them and proceed on the path of development and education.

“I will give you a Talisman. Whenever you are in doubt, or when the self becomes too much with you, apply the following test. Recall the face of the poorest and the weakest man (woman) whom you may have seen, and ask yourself, if the step you contemplate is going to be of any use of him (her). Will he (she) gain anything by it? Will it restore him (her) to a control over his / her own life and destiny? In other words, will it lead to swaraj (freedom) for the hungry and spiritually starving millions? Then you will find your doubts and yourself melt away”.

CEO'S FORWARD

I feel great pleasure in presenting the Annual Report of Gandhi Manav Kalyan Society for the year 2016-17 in brief. This year has been full of many ups and downs but the Society has not diverted from its core values and achieved great progress . It is meaningless to imagine working without the trust, cooperation and participation of the people of the area, workers of the institution, its well wishers and donors. Through this report, I express my thanks and gratitude from the core of my heart to all of you. During the year, the institution has taken strides in the areas of integrated development, women/ girls' empowerment, education, health, better livelihood, agriculture, conservation and protection of environment and natural resources. Gandhi Manav Society is thankful for the valuable suggestions from many eminent person and organization which they very kindly offered after visiting, observing and understanding the work and activities of the institution from time to time in order to give greater momentum to the work of the institution. They include particularly the students of IIM Udaipur and Duke Stanford University as well as common people of the area. The support extended by NABARD in the areas of agriculture, forestry and promotion of livelihoods has been quite encouraging for which the organization is grateful to them. While extending gratitude to the UNICEF it would be very appropriate to say that through the school health programme they have extended great help to the institution for creating awareness among the students about health and sanitation. This programme (awareness for education, health and sanitation) needs to be continued further. Many thanks to our local PRI's (Sarpanch and ward panch) for their role and help offered especially in the programmes of local self-governance and Beti Bachao Beti Padhao.

MADAN NAGDA

The journey of this institution of more than three decades has thrilled us and filled with hope and enthusiasm every day. However, we feel that the working area of the institution still deserves great efforts towards its development. Hence the search for possibilities to overcome many problems and to deal with the challenges of development is still on. The will and the zeal of the institution is full of trust and hope because the community people are taking various responsibilities by being partner in the process and programme of common as well as individual development. At this juncture, there is a great need for support organisations, donor institutions, corporate families and well wishers in order to accelerate the pace of development and taking the course of such development to the common people of the area.

“ The journey of GANDHI MANAV KALYAN SOCIETY of more than three decades has thrilled us and filled with hope and enthusiasm. The will and the zeal of the institution is full of trust and hope.”

Method Of Implementing The Programmes

"The biggest happiness is when at the end of the year you feel better than at the beginning".
- Henry David Thoreau

Gandhi Manav Kalyan Society (GMKS) has the belief and experience that no developmental programme can be sustainable without people's participation. Therefore, for increasing participation/partnership, the Society has been engaging itself in mass contact, building of village communities and women groups and formation of various groups and committees such as self-help groups, Kisan club, water user group, school management committee, migration control group, Gram Vikas Samity, forest protection committee, federation etc. On the basis of the nature of work or activity, executive committees have been formed with due consideration for duties and responsibilities with an object of promoting the sense of responsibility among the common people. Before launching any developmental programme or activity, GMKS invariably ensures that its plan or the project is understood fully well and its objectives, expectations from the members and benefits for the people are well defined with necessary provisions laid down in the project. Thereafter, the project is placed before the Village Panchayat and the Gram Sabha for consideration and approval. Such consideration includes the suggestions of the Panchayat or the Gram Sabha who are also supposed to discuss the role of the organisation in this respect.

We also make sure as to what would be the benefits of a particular programme to the village and its families. While implementing a project and placing it on the ground, if necessary, some changes could also be made looking to the special context of a village and to meet the need of convenience. At the start of a programme, GMKS would closely examine and study the area in the light of the plan, available resources etc. A base line survey has been conducted and social mapping with PRA is been done together with analysis of the problem, if any. During the period of the plan or the programme, necessary training is arranged for capacity building of the target group/ village committee. Women and savings committee are also involved in the implementation of every plan in the village. GMKS implements a project with the help of various institutions such as funding agency, financial institutions, different government departments (such as Women, Panchayatiraj, Tribal Development, Agriculture, and Animal husbandry, Education, Forest and Health). The role of management and technical institutions/ agencies is also important in this task.

The CEO is talking about the challenges of development.

Agriculture & Livelihood Development :

Gandhi Manav Kalyan Society makes sincere efforts to ensure that the programme under the schemes of agriculture run by the institution is consistent and sustainable; it should help in enhancing the crop production leading to food security of the family. The programme should facilitate such crops which require less water and minimum input cost. It should also promote farming of vegetables and fruits. The organisation has worked towards improving traditional agriculture and increasing land fertility. While promoting extension of irrigation facilities and their better management with the help of NABARD, the institution has taken initiative in forming Farmers Agro Food Producer's Federation so as to enable farmers to get proper price of their produce and better facilities for production and marketing. Farmers' clubs have been formed and the members have been imparted necessary trainings. Special attention has been paid to programmes such as crop farming, horticulture culture activity, land water development and technical skill building.

Women and Child Development :

Gandhi Manav Kalyan Society believes that the place and status of women in the society should not be lower than men's. Socially, economically academically, culturally and politically women should enjoy equal opportunity as has been conferred upon them under our constitution. Many studies and surveys have concluded very clearly that if a woman is made capable, it makes the whole family capable. Such family lives a healthy life and their children go to school. When a woman becomes capable, economic condition of her family also improves and it leads to the development of the community. But it is an unfortunate fact that the position of women in our country continues to be secondary even now. The UNDP report (2014) shows that most of the pregnant women (15-49 years age group) are suffering from blood deficiency. 47% women in the age group of 20 - 24 years were married before attaining 18 years of age and 18% of them were married before they were 15 years old. It is really a matter of grave concern on which Gandhi Manav Kalyan Society is trying seriously to create mass awareness in its working area in order to build a broader understanding among the people in this respect.

Gandhi Manav Kalyan Society intends to build such a society where there is child friendly atmosphere, child rights are not violated and health, security, education of the children is ensured leading to their holistic development. The organisation has been working in this direction since last two decade and very hopeful results are emerging in this respect now. But this issue concerns with the change in the attitude of the society as well as promotion of education. So there is need to work consistently on this issue then only it would be possible to achieve full success in the matter. A bigger challenge before the organisation is the migration of children of poor families for doing labour work in agriculture fields and at construction sites in order to earn meagre wages. The institution has been working on this issue since long . Another issue concerns younger and adolescent girls who are given the responsibility to look after their younger siblings at home and taking the cattle for grazing in the pastures since their parents are busy working in the agriculture fields to earn wages. This affects and impedes the educations of those girls.

A group of women, many wearing colorful saris and headscarves, are sitting in a circle on the floor in a room. They appear to be engaged in a meeting or discussion. The room has a white wall and a window in the background.

Beti Bachao Beti Padhao (Save The Daughter, Educate The Daughter) Programme :

With an aim of creating mass awareness and fully appreciating the inherent meaning of Beti Bachao Beti Padhao programme of the government, Gandhi Manav Kalyan Society has paid special attention on empowering girls in each and every programme conducted by it. The institution initiates schooling campaign for girls every year in the month of July under which this year 309 girl children of 27 villages have been enrolled in schools. The Executive Committee of the organization has decided to continue this programme every year on voluntary basis.

If we look into the Census Report for 2011, we will find that the number of girl children in the age group 0 - 6 years has been continuously declining since last few decades. In 2001, the ratio of girl children was 927/1000 which has come down to 919/1000 in 2011. Since so many hospitals have modern equipments for testing the gender in the womb so after getting it tested many people prefer to get it aborted (foeticide) if it is tested a girl. Due to this tendency, the number of girl child ratio is declining constantly. This bad practice has stayed in society on account of gender discrimination. A few signs of such a practice have been witnessed in the areas within and nearby our working. Realising this concern, the institution has taken up the programme of sensitizing the society about the girl children and to achieve this aim the institution has taken up special programme for girls' education.

After birth girls have to pass through many types of discrimination. Girls deserve to be treated equally with boys in the matters of education, health, security, food etc., since they enjoy equal rights in every sphere of life. We can say that instead of empowering the women, they are rather being depowered. It is a well recognised fact that empowering girls and women will lead to progress all over, especially in the family as well the society. So the institution has initiated the programme of transforming negative human bias into positive attitude towards the girls. It is possible that the programme launched by the institution and similar initiatives taken by other organisations will in the course of time bear the fruits and help in eradicating discrimination against the girls in our society. Under the programme Beti Bachao Beti Padhao, Gandhi Manav Kalyan Society is making sincere efforts, particularly in the fields of girls' education, in order to stop gender discrimination and bridge the gap in the male and female gender ratio.

Health and Sanitation:

Lack of the reach of people up to better health facilities, geographical conditions of the area, scattered hamlets, migration, non availability of pure and clean drinking water and lack of proper sanitation are some of the big problems of the area. It affects the health of women, boys and girls and old people much more. Secondly, due to poverty and lack of arrangements and opportunities for livelihood, health and sanitation are taken as secondary in the priority list of the people. As a result, the impact on maternal and infant mortality rate, blood deficiency among the women and the effect of water borne diseases can be clearly seen in the area. This impact is visible not only on the livelihood of the people but also on the education of boys and girls as well as health of women. Gandhi Manav Kalyan Society, in close coordination with the UNICEF as well as local health department officials, has made this issue a point of discussion and deliberation among the people in the area and worked seriously for creating sense as well as awareness on health and sanitation among the children. As a part of this drive, the institution has been organising hand washing programme for the children, the result of which have been quite satisfactory. The task of health and sanitation is not confined to the availability of physical resources only, rather it is a task of bringing change in the attitude and behaviour of the common people.

Conservation And Management Of Natural Resources :

Keeping in view the geo echo conditions prevailing in the area, Gandhi Manav Kalyan Society has taken a decision to improve the resources of livelihood and devote special attention towards conservation and management of natural resources in the area. In this respect, the institution is focussing on five "J" which are as follows:-
Jal (water), Jungle (forest), Zamin (land), Jaanwar (Cattle) & Jan (people).

With an aim of facilitating water availability for the present as well as future, Gandhi Manav Kalyan Society has taken up various activities of water conservation such as construction of water harvesting structures, construction of drains, lift irrigation installation for better irrigation systems, construction of channels for natural water flow and using it for irrigation, construction and deepening of water wells, selection of crops which could be grown with less quantity of water, promotion of the methods for less use of water.

Since our working area in South Rajasthan is mostly forest area so there is need to think and work constantly for maintaining and protecting it (the forest). In addition to it, efforts are being made towards pasture development, fruit plantation and growing more trees and protecting them properly.

Water, Forest, land and cattle play an important role in improving the livelihood of the people and help in promoting sustainable jobs/livelihoods. Gandhi Manav Kalyan Society has been working in accordance with this thought and engaged in the task of natural resource management by collaborating with the Gram Sabhas. The results of this work have been quite encouraging although there is need to make further efforts in this area.

Child Rights & Child Protection :

The working area of the institution is known for child labour and migration. The children of the area are taken to Gujarat through agents to work in the cotton fields and this practice has taken deep roots here. Such agents have come up from the local community itself who would establish contact with the parents and families of the children and when a group of such children is ready, they are gathered and sent to Gujarat for cotton collection in the cotton farms or for doing other type of labour work there. Such migration not only affects the education of the children directly but also promotes child labour and leads to the violation of child rights. Since girl children are also a part of the process of migration, there are instances of bad behaviour and physical violence with them. In this connection, Gandhi Manav Kalyan Society has constituted village level monitoring groups by taking the Panchayats into confidence. Also programmes have been organised for public awareness. As a result of these initiatives, there is some improvement in the situation but due to poverty, unemployment and uncertainty of the livelihoods in the area, the flow of migration has not fully stopped.

Strengthening Of Panchayatiraj Institutions - (PRI's) :

It is essential to have strong Gram Sabhas in order to empower and strengthen Panchayatiraj system. Such strength comes from peoples' participation or partnership. Gandhi Manav Kalyan Society has been giving great emphasis on peoples' participation in the Panchayatiraj system during the meetings of women self-help groups and other meetings of local and community groups held in the village from time to time. In the course of meetings with Ward Panchs and Sarpanchs and also during their training programme, discussions are held on their rights and responsibilities in detail and besides this, the issues concerning development of the area and various developmental schemes and programmes are also discussed with them. The importance of peoples' participation has been in the discussion constantly which has helped in raising issues and problems quite strongly in various meetings. Moreover, the institution has also organized training programmes on the subject for Ward Pancha's and Sarpancha's.

Role Play During PRI's training.

Rural Health And Sanitation :

With the help of self-help groups, many programmes have been organised by the institution at the Panchayat level for creating awareness among the people about sanitation, stopping open defecation and protecting people from water borne diseases. In addition to it, the institution has taken many initiatives in the direction of various cleanliness programmes including ODF being run by the government.

Rana Punja College For Higher Education :

Alongside the process of its progress and engagement with the people, Gandhi Manav Kalyan Society has been giving serious thought to the education system constantly. Three decades ago, the institution started spreading awareness among the people about the importance of education in order to promote education of children through their schooling. Right since then, the institution has been giving a thought as to what should be done for higher education in future. The executive committee of the institution had appointed Education Management Committee for suggesting suitable step and strategy in this respect. The Committee has recommended that the institution should not back out on the issue and take initiative in this respect. The Committee suggested that the institution should establish a collage for promoting higher education in this backward region. Throughout the year, there were discussions and deliberations at the village as well as institution level on this issue and finally the institution arrived at the conclusion that a collage should be set up at village Oгна which should be named after the renowned patriot of the tribal society, Rana Poonja.

The decision to start a college was quite difficult but much more challenging was mobilisation of resources for the collage and getting sanction/recognition from the government. It was also quite challenging to obtain government permission to start the collage from the next academic session.

The challenges are many - sanction/ recognition from the government, recognition from Mohan Lal Sukhadia University, bringing well Qualified teachers for building a good faculty at a collage located in a very backward and remote area, mobilisation and management of resources necessary for a collage and building a quality institution. We hope and believe that the institution will achieve success. The second half of the year was devoted to complete this process. However, the institution is confident that Rana Poonja College will start functioning from next July.
